

To whom it may concern,

I've had the pleasure of working with Horizon Assembly Company in the past and have always had a good experience. Owner David Gouge has provided electronics and electromechanical assembly services for my company on a number of occasions. As a manager in an electronics manufacturing business, it's comforting to know that Horizon Assembly Company is available to provide quality assembly services. Dave has always been responsive to our needs and has shown a great dedication to providing the best possible service to my company. His efforts have been timely and I've always found him to provide a good value.

I wouldn't hesitate to engage with David Gouge and his company in the future and I can confidently recommend Horizon Assembly Company for any assembly services.
